

how to raise parallelism request in azure

To request a free parallelism grant

Azure DevOps does not have a specific "free parallelism grant" feature that users can request. However, there may have been updates or changes to Azure DevOps since then, so it's essential to check the latest documentation or Azure DevOps portal for the most accurate information.

If you are looking for additional parallel jobs or parallelism in your Azure DevOps pipelines, you might want to consider the following:

1. Azure DevOps Free Tier:

- Azure DevOps offers a free tier that includes a limited amount of build and deployment minutes. Check the Azure DevOps pricing page to understand the specific limits associated with the free tier.

2. Purchasing Parallel Jobs:

- If you need more parallel jobs than what is available in the free tier, you can consider purchasing additional parallel jobs based on your requirements. This is typically done through Azure DevOps billing.

3. Azure DevOps Grants or Promotions:

- Periodically, Microsoft may offer grants, promotions, or special programs that provide additional resources or capabilities. Keep an eye on announcements, blogs, or official communication channels for any special offers.
